

Pete De Mare

Pete De Mare is an investor, industry expert and proven business leader in green real estate development and building sustainable companies. He brings a diverse background of building some of the more successful industry teams that have rapidly increased the market adoption of smart building technologies, sustainable business practices, emerging public policies, green real estate development, utility scale infrastructure and new financing mechanisms. Pete's true passion is helping markets develop more rapidly by adopting the technologies and strategies that can solve complex world challenges today. Pete sits on a variety of key industry advisory boards. U.S. Green Building Council – LEED Technical Committee Energy and Interdisciplinary Subject Matter Expert <http://www.usgbc.org/committees/lead>

